SUPPLEMENT TO REPORT NO.

1. The Soviet First Army (First Far Eastern Army?) is now stationed in the Vladivostok area. The strength and number of component units of the First Army can be broken down as follows:

a. Four rifle divisions, strength approximately	80,000
b. Ten cavalry divisions, strength approximately	73,000
c. Six mechanized divisions (brigades?) strength approximately	30,000
d. Air brigades, strength approximately	24,000

25X1A Comment: Air brigades (possibly airborne brigades) are detached from the Air Force Command, and are under the command of the Headquarters of the Soviet First Army.]

2. The strength of the First Army, approximately 207,000 men, always remains the same. However, the subordinate units under the headquarters of the First Army are continually changed. These component units remain in the Vladivostok area from one to six months, after which time they are assigned to other army commands elsewhere in the USSR.

3. The following army combat and service units are permanently assigned to the Headquarters of the Soviet First Army:

- a. 39th Rifle Division
- b. Military District Department
- c. Intendance Department
- d. Communications Department
- e. Communications Warehouse
- f. Artillery Depot
- g. Construction Depot (Engineers?)
- h. Aviation Materials Depot
- i. Sanitation Materials Depot
- j. Veterinary Depot
